The U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) announces its proposed decision to delete the Lees Lane Landfill Superfund Site, Louisville, Kentucky, from the National Priorities List (NPL). The Superfund cleanup at this site has been completed. As required by the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 (CERCLA) a monitoring program will be initiated in the summer of 1988 and continue for a period of 30 years. The program will include the monitoring of groundwater, air, and methane gas, as well as the inspection of the gas collection system, capped waste areas, gas monitoring wells, and riprap along the Ohio River constructed as part of the cleanup method chosen.

EPA, with the concurrence of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, has determined that the cleanup is protective of human health and the environment. The public is invited to comment on the proposed decision to delete this site from the NPL by providing either written or verbal comments. Written comments must be postmarked no later than April 29, 1988, and should be addressed to:
